

Curing her could also cure Alzheimer's. Yet, ironically, she has the disease everyone forgets.

Bryanna DeSouza has Niemann-Pick, a terminal disease that affects metabolism and destroys the body's cells. She suffers in obscurity. Your support could have a profound effect. Researchers believe curing Bryanna and other children like her will open doors to curing Alzheimer's patients. Please fund Niemann-Pick research. Learn more at www.nnpdf.org or call 1-877-CURE-NPC.
