

Hunter Ozmer with her Mom (Annette).

Hunter Ozmer is driving to defeat Niemann-Pick Disease. Niemann-Pick Disease (NPD) is the name given to a group of genetic disorders, with three commonly recognized forms: Types A, B and C.

Types A and B NPD are both caused by a deficiency of enzyme activity within the body that eventually causes cell death and malfunction of major organs.

Symptoms of Type A appear very early in childhood and include feeding difficulties, a large abdomen and progressive loss of motor skills. Children with Type A usually decline rapidly and die by age two or three. Type B victims are not as devastated but may be plagued with repeated respiratory infections.

Hunter Ozmer has Type C, which prevents her body from metabolizing cholesterol properly, and causes it to accumulate in vital organs.

Like Hunter, most Type C sufferers are children of school age. Symptoms include difficulty with vertical eye movement, clumsiness, slurred speech, learning difficulties and progressive intellectual decline, sudden loss of muscle tone and falls, tremors and seizures.

Type C children may live into their mid to late teens. Very few survive into their twenties.

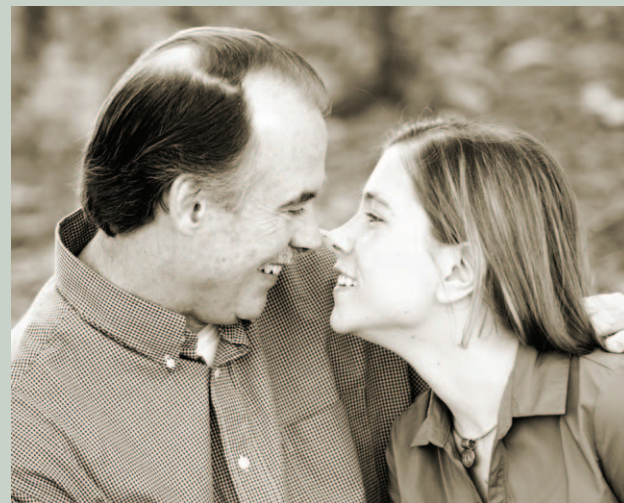

Currently there is no cure for Niemann-Pick Disease. But there is hope. Research into treatment and prevention has made important progress. Your help is urgently needed to continue that progress – for Hunter and hundreds of other children.

Awards Dinner and Auction

Prefer the main course to the golf course? You won't want to miss the Hunter's Hope Dinner and Auction. This event is now open to everyone, whether they participate in the golf event or not.

The dinner begins at 5:30 p.m. on the patio of the Hanging Rock clubhouse, with auction to follow. Past years at this event have seen fast and furious bidding on first-rate items, often donated and signed by such talents as Orioles' legend Cal Ripken, Tiki and Rhonde Barber, Coach Frank Beamer and others.

You may also have an opportunity to bid on artworks by Eric Fitzpatrick and other artists, trips, free airline tickets, passes to spa getaways, and much more! Prizes at the auction may vary. But you'll surely find something to treasure and enjoy.

_____ My Company has a matching gift program. The appropriate form is enclosed.

_____ I cannot attend but would like to make a tax-deductible gift. I've enclosed that gift.
